A special meeting for the innovative community of Moldova took place on March 22, at the headquarters of the State Agency on Intellectual Property (AGEPI). The Innovative Industries Conference, organized by the “Association of Innovative Industries of Moldova”, brought together members of the association and decision-makers from various fields, in a hybrid format, aimed at encouraging investments and the implementation of innovations in the production and processing processes of value-added products.

In opening the Conference, AGEPI Director General Eugeniu Rusu stressed the importance of cooperation between the public and private sectors in promoting innovation and sustainable economic development in Moldova. He highlighted the role of intellectual property protection in supporting innovation and encouraged participants to explore new opportunities for cooperation and investment in innovation. He also mentioned AGEPI’s commitment to providing support and assistance in protecting and valorizing the intellectual creations of innovators in our country.

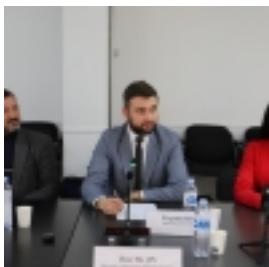

In an era where innovation is becoming increasingly crucial for the success of a business, the event emphasized the importance of quickly adapting and implementing new ideas to remain competitive and relevant in the market. Traditional solutions are no longer always sufficient in a constantly changing economic landscape, and entrepreneurs must keep up with trends and adopt innovative practices to maintain their competitive advantage.

The conference offered participants the opportunity to better understand the innovation process and the ways in which it can be applied within their own businesses. Discussions covered issues such as intellectual property protection, cooperation between the public and private sectors, and stimulation of the innovation ecosystem of Moldova.

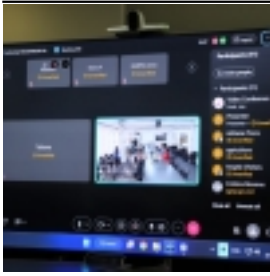

By promoting a constructive dialogue and exchange of ideas between professionals and specialists from different fields, the conference demonstrated that innovation is a necessary force for economic growth and sustainable development of Moldova.
